Understandable. Let me know if there is anything that can be thrown back in our court. However our message is basically the same as yours.

Jeni—fyi #2, I feel bad declining interview but I don't want to get into Qs about listing and liability and CFAC criticisms before we are publically communicating our intent to list.

Cyndy—I'd love to help, but I'm coordinating with project staff who are traveling and in meetings today, so I'm most comfortable with statement at this point. I expect we may have some news in the next few weeks, will make sure I share with you directly if and when.

Hi Cyndy, No. The closure of the plant does not change EPA's focus on working with the state, the local community, and the site owners to fully assess the site and take cleanup actions that are necessary to protect human health and the environment.

Hi Richard

Would you be available for a quick phone interview on this? Does shutting and demolishing the plant shift the cleanup burden from the company to the EPA?

The closure of the CFAC plant does not change EPA's focus on working with the state, the local community, and the site owners to fully assess the site and take cleanup actions that are necessary to protect human health and the environment. We will evaluate and consider viable opportunities to reuse the site as we move forward. EPA's current focus is conducting a thorough site investigation and developing plans to address contamination.
